God bless you!

Happy New Year! We have, by now, said and offer that well-wish quite a bit! And behind this salutation, what is the real reason we offer it? To some, we are only offering a “seasonal hello or goodbye” I suspect. And then depending upon the level of our relationship and sincerity of heart we do really wish the very best to the one we address. Something the same yet different.

I recently read this passage written by St. John Chrysostom: “If the Magi had come in search of an earthly king, they would have been disconcerted at finding that they had taken the trouble to come such a long way for nothing. Consequently they would have neither adored nor offered gifts. But since they sought a heavenly king, though they found in him no signs of royal pre-eminence, yet, content with the testimony of the star alone, they adored: for they saw a human, and they acknowledged a God.” It took me several readings to really appreciate this quote!

The Magi searched for “the newborn king of the Jews” with enthusiasm, anticipation, and joy. They came to pay him homage and be inspired in the meeting. And they hoped to return somehow differently better than when they arrived. Herod pursued this so-called “newborn king of the Jews” out of jealousy and fear. He felt threatened and would come to kill rather than gift. His only comfort would be in destruction. The same someone seen differently.

The Giving Tree in the vestibule of the Church now stands empty of its inscribed paper ornaments. Yet it stands more beautiful, as these “ornament invitations” were exchanged for gifts by generous souls and to bring smiles to many less fortunate. Our house of worship is cleaned and beautifully decorated, a new meeting room for all our use is just about finished, shelter and food continues to be offered to the deserving, a number of needy families enjoy human comfort and true joy this day, and on and on goes this beautiful list heralding generous donations, precious time, thoughtful prayer and talent – all shared and making a difference because you followed the right star and for the right reasons.

May you continue to be inspired as you list ways you will find and follow Him, and make a true personal and other-centered difference throughout this New Year! We pray over you that quite special blessing the Lord asked Moses and Aaron to pray over His people (Numbers 6:22-27): “The Lord bless you and keep you! The Lord let his face shine upon you, and be gracious to you! The Lord look upon you kindly and give you peace.” Happy New Year!

Father Mark

Your baby is counting on you.

An unwanted pregnancy can be a traumatic experience. Tell the employee/volunteer that you want to leave your newborn as a "Safe Place Baby."
